CRAB ORCHARD.

-Mrs. R. H. Logan left Sunday to visit relatives in Missouri. -Mr. Grove Kennedy, Jr., is on a visit to old friends in Crab Orchard.

-Rev. William Cnytendall will preach at the Baptist church Wednesday night. -Mr. W. A. Carson and wife are re-jolding over the arrival of their first son. -Tim Buchanan, a worthless negro, raised a row up on Plank street, Saturday, and broke Mag Owsley's arm in several places with a chair. It's a pity the town could not get rid of this pest.

-Mies Lorena Hardin died and was burled Thursday. She had la grippe in the early Spring, which settled on her luugs, ransing consumption. She was of a lovable disposition and will be sadly missed by the entire community as well as by her devoted father and sisters and brother, who gave her every attention that could be possible in hope of restorlng her to health, but the summons had came, as it sooner or later will to us all. Miss Alles Hardln is still in a precarious e indition.

-Friday night the store of Mrs. D. G. Slaughter & Son, was robbed, the thelves taking about 300 pound of bacon, a quantlty of flour and some wearing apparel. They were easily tracked, it having rained the night before and James Slaughter armed with a search warrant and officers, soon had one of the guilty partles under arrest. He then told who his confederates were. John Singleton was the party who was arrested. Part of the stolen goods were found at his home, John Kidd and John Pendleton were the other two, but they have so far not been found. Singleton created quite an excitement Saturday, by trying to get away, but several shots fired at him, soon caused him to surrender.

11-Mies Sallie l'ettus, of Somersel, and Miss Sallie Campbell, of Paint Lick, are visiting Miss Maud Pettus. Mr. Campbell, of Llvingston, visits Crab Orchard quite often of late. Wonder what for" Mr. Hill and Mr. Krutzer, of Louisville, are boarding with Mrs. Holdam and the young ladies in town think they are just to cute for anything. Mr. Krntzer is quite a musician. Miss Laila Hays is a guest of Mrs Holdam. Miss Anna, Evans, of Danville, is visiting Miss Anna Brouaugh. Mrs. Gaines Rice, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. F. W. Billion, departed for her home in Wash-Ington, Saturday. Mr. Mark Hardin and wife are boarding at Mrs. F. W. Dillion's, Miss Nannle Edulaton is visiting friends at Lancaster and Richmond. Miss Hannah McFall has returned from an extended visit to Mrs. Barney Alexander, at New Liberty. Dr. W. S. Beezley, who is now lu business at Indianapolis, arrived home Saturday and will spend a few weeks with his parents. Mr. Zach Carson, with his wife and daughter, are visiting Mrs. S. E. Brooks, Mr. W. G. Proctor and family, of Danville, are ison. spending a few weeks with Mr. J. E. Careon at their country home. Mrs. T. M. Warren, of Lebanon Junction, is at her father's, Mr. John Warren.

THE STANFORD FAIR.

Those who predicted that the Stanford Fair would be a failure were right in-somuch as finances are concerned, but Malloy, C. C. Carpenter's Fanny Mac. they went wide of the mark otherwise. It is safe however to say that the stockholders will not lose more than $5 or $6 on the $10 share. The show of stock was No. 1, and while there may have been more here at some of the previons fairs, we are certain that it was of no better class. The rings were most all well filled and the roadster rings and stakes were particularly good. Splendid order was kept and if the stockholders are a little behind on account of the enterprise, they have the consolation of knowing that they are the promoters of a fair that was a source of pleasure from beginning to end and of a show of stock second to none. Below is a list of the winners together with the rings and number of entries:

Mr. W. A. Tribble's Kate Mallov was as pretty as a picture and was the object Bros., Woodford, L. H. Hudson, Boyle, of great admiration, especially by his lady friends. She got the blue in every ring she appeared. In fact she is the great unbeaten and unbeatable. Mr. G. W. Cotfey, of Orlando, Fla., owns her sire, Bryan, as good a horse as ever left Kentucky and he was present to see the beautiful mare perform.

No one worked harder for the success of the fair than President John Sam Owsley, Sr., and it was remarked on all sides that he was the right man in the right place. In addition to his other efforts, he served dinner on the grounds both days, which was gracefully presided over by his lovely daughters, who made each person feel that he was the honored guest. Such an abundance of lamb, ham. chicken, salads, cake, ices, and other good things, so excellently prepared, is rarely seen. THE conference committee on the tar iff hill having failed to agree, the result was reported to the House, and after speeches by Chalrman Wilson and ex-Speaker Reed, the former's motion to send it back with instructions to the House conferres to stand firm against the Senate amendments was adopted enthusiastically and without division. Mr. Wilson created a sensation at the close of his speech by reading a letter to him from President Cleveland of July 2, which is an earnest plea for the retention of the main featuree of the bill ae it nated. left the House, and an appeal for the redemption of democratic pledges, on sion from Cincinnati to Niagara Falls, which the party was again given power. He condemns in forcible words the cowardly surrender of the democratic principle of free material and denounces the by a mob. protection offered the sugar trust in the generally falls far short of the consum- 10 per cent. reduction. mation for which we have long labored, for which we have suffered defeat without discouragement; which in its anticipation gave us a rallying cry in our day of triumph and which in its promise of accomplishment is so interwoven with democratic pledges and democratic success that our abandonment of the cause or the principles upon which it rests means party perfidy and party dishonor. There is no excuse, Mr. Cleveland says, for mistaking or misapprehending tne feeling and the temper of the rank and file of the democracy. They are downcast under the assertion that their party fails in ability to manage the government, and they are apprehensive that efforts to bring about a reform may fall; but they are much more downcast and apprehensive in their fear that democratic principles may be snrrendered. The House heard the letter read with the most enthusiastic evidences of approval, but the Senate, whose members feel themselves far above the people, regarded it as impertinent and an unwarranted interference of the executive with the legislative branch of the government, a very dishonest and rotten excuser since it is the president's duty to advise and suggest needful legislation. Senator Vest had a spasm and others of "the grave and reverend Seignors" went Into conniptions. Senator Hill embraced the occasion to give Mr. Cleveland's action a quasi endorsement while at the same time driving the knife into his enemy still deeper and giving it a twist while huried in his flesh. Traitorous democrats in the Senate say the bill chall be passed as they disposed of it, or no tariff law shall be passed this session, while the Honse will not agree to the one almost as bad as the McKinley concern the Senate would foist on the country. The situation is a most deplorable one, and unless there can be found a sufficient number of Senators who can see above their individual interests, the democratic party is doomed to another 30 years' existence on worse than husks. Unless the pledges of tariff reform are redeemed at this session, nothing in the future is so absolutely certain as that the party will not be able on account of an adverse House to do so in the next. For the sake of all that a democrat holds dear, it is to be hoped that the so-called democratic Senators may yet be brought to a realizing sense of the shame and dishonor they are bringing upon the party that has always stood for the rights of the few against the many, for equal rights to all and exclusive privileges to none.

Heretofore it has not been regarded inconsistent with their religion for the Catholics to engage in the sale of liquors, but hereafter the traffic will not be considered a legitimate business and Catholic societies sever membership in them of persons who engage in it. As the Catholic population of the U.S. numbers about 6,000,000 and as its niembers are nothing unless priest-ridden, it it can be readily seen how great a stride the order is in the cause of temperance. This puts the Catholic church in line on the subject with all the other churches in condemnation of the traffic.

In obedience to the popular demand the House adopted almost unanimously the amendment to the constitution providing for the election of U. S. Senators by the people. It would be a good idea if it would abolish the body altogether, at least for the present.

The contestants warmly congratulated the victor, while enthusiastic boys caught him on their shoulders and bore him triumphantly from the stage. Many thought Mr. Shanks should have been leased or rented. Full information on applicathought Mr. Shanks should have been given the medal and we learn be did come within an 1 of a vote of it. By special request Miss Shanks, who was far from being well, obligingly recited a selection "The Old Man Dreams," and added much to her reputation as an elocutionist. During the evening, the Stanford Orchestra discouraed some excellent music and that pretty little vocalist, Miss. Nora Moreland sang a pretty solo in her isually sweet manner. Mr. Tilden Cook also sang a soto "I am King O'er Land and Sea," which so pleased the audience that he was forced to repeat it. Mrs. Maggie Portman played the accompaniments and drilled the yocalists, which accounts for the excellence. The entire program was greatly enjoyed and Miss Shanks can have the satisfaction of feel-there sometimes?" "No, I'm invalid, and am not receiving company," she archly replied as she started off. Once she looked back, Mr. Carter was gazing gloomlly in the brook. "Say:" she hallooed back, "If Mr-ought to come over to see hin. He has an very nice daugeter." Then she hurried along and was soon lost to sight.

Mrs. Allyn met Jennie Taylor between | marked quietly: the house and the gate.

"Oh! Jennie, I had the most romantic adventure to day! You just ought to have seen him. He says he knows your father, and is coming over to see him. And then he is so wise, Solomon and der. Highest of all in leavening Plato, and all those old fellows don't tion he stopped in the midst of a concut-

"But pray who is this he?" added Jennie Interrupting her.

"Mr. Wagoner, no, Mr. Carter from Georgia. Here's his card, you just ought to have heard me reading his name when he handed me his card. I jumbled his name, his occupation, and his residence all together, pretending that I hlm I was a widow, and -and a lot of other fibe! Did you ever hear of -of him before?"

"O yes, I've heard father speak of him. He's an old micogynist-can't emlure our sex, I understand. You surely must have pressed him very closely to make him talk to you. But really you didn't tell him you were a widow, did

"Why certainly I did. I wish I had known that he was a woman hater, I'd riven him a piece of my mind. Just to think I made eyes at him and made him eay lots of nice things to me!"

"Why Evelyn Allyn! I am ashamed of you. I shall make it my business to undeceive Mr. Carter, on sight, about your being a widow. The idea!"

"All right, tell him and I'll tell him you are trying to catch him yourself! I'll tell him what a bad temper you have, and I'll make up lots of other things to frighten him off."

"Your threats will not deter me, you know I promised Mr. Allyn to take care of you. If he were to hear that you had been flirting in Sylvan Solitudes' with a perfect stranger, he'd never let you come to see me again. I am shocked at you Evelyn-shocked!" said Jennie Taylor, trying to look stern.

"Well, while you are being shocked, I'll go and shock the pantry. I'm as hungry as a wolf."

In a few days thereafter, Mr. Carter called and was presented to the ladies in due form.

After that he was a constant visitor at the Taylors', Many long rambles they took after wild-llowers, which the golden, glad days of spring were fast flushing into bloom, or "under the greenwood tree" they eat and read, or wonderingly listened to the secrets whispered by the 'leafy lips above them.

One day, after Mr. Carter had left Mrs. Allyn laughingly remarked to Jennie: "That was really mean in yon, Jennie, to tell on me. I shall never forgive you."

"Why?" asked Jennie.

"Because, can't you see Mr. Carter has given me the g. b. and has eyes and ears for no one except you."

"That only shows his good taste," said Jennie, laughing, "but really I thought you were getting more than your share at last." of his attentions."
